Consider Becoming a Friend of NRICS

The majority of the “Friends of NRI Community Services” are people who support the work we do. We call on Friends for advice or assistance when needed. The following is some information to help you decide if you would like to become a Friend:

- Friends include clients of NRICS, family members of clients, and community representatives, including staff, who live or work in the areas we serve.
- Friends may be appointed to various standing and ad-hoc committees of the NRI Community Services, Inc. Board of Directors.
- Friends are often appointed by the Board to represent NRICS on other local or statewide Boards.
- Friends are often drawn upon to fill vacant seats on the Board of Directors.
- Friends may from time to time be contacted to see if they can provide volunteer assistance on fund raising events, State or local budget hearings, or in other advisory capacities.
- Friends can join or resign any time of the year.
- Friends can recommend others that may be interested in joining this group.
- Friends include former Board members, former staff and former clients who can no longer help us out on projects, but wish to remain on our mailing list for newsletters and special events.
